

Rethought and made better

... is our claim.
What advantages does this bring our pedagogical staff?

- We continuously improve the working conditions for educators (acoustics, ergonomics, equipment, etc.).
- You choose the workplace (from the fun@education location network) that is optimal for your individual life situation.
- The continuous enhancement of pedagogical quality and the deliberate increase in staff-to-child ratios go hand in hand with us.
- You will experience an organisation that evaluates with every decision whether and how the job satisfaction of the educational teams can be improved.
- You will enhance your compensation by switching to fun@education.
- You will help shape how "preparatory pedagogical time" becomes a collaborative development of educational project ideas.
- You will find colleagues within the team with whom you can further develop and implement your pedagogical focus.
- You will experience satisfactory parent engagement in the context of corporate childcare.
- You will receive the appreciation you deserve – your new colleagues will provide specific examples during your fun@education experience day.

Your next step:

- fun@education: Education is enjoyable for you, and you are focused on the educational mission.
- It is important to you to work in a multicultural team (German- and English-speaking).
- You take pride in continuously improving pedagogical quality.
- You are aware of your strengths – together we will find the educational area that suits you best.
- You possess the qualification as a pedagogical specialist (e.g., educator, early childhood educator, childcare worker, or equivalent) ...
- ... or you wish to acquire this qualification through part-time studies with us.
- You deserve enhanced compensation and improved job satisfaction.

fun@education has developed a new business model for child development in such a way that we can say with full conviction: What we promise you, we can and will deliver!
